

The Daily Courant.

Friday, August 24. 1722.

THE following Address has been presented to His Majesty by William Morgan, Esq; one of the Knights of the Shire for the County of Monmouth, introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Viscount Townshend, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Lord Lieutenant, High Sheriff, Grand Jury, Justices of the Peace, Clergy and Gentlemen of the County of Monmouth.
May it please your Majesty,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, beg Leave to assure your Majesty, that we think our Religion and Liberties are inseparably joined with the Safety of your Majesty's Reign, and the Protestant Religion as established by Law.

This Nation has twice tried the Oaths and Declarations of a Popish Sovereign, and has been as often delivered by Providence from the terrible Experiment; and yet we still find there are too many whom neither their Oaths or Interest can bind to their Duty.

We pray God to turn their Hearts, or to continue to confound their Devices, and to preserve your Majesty's sacred Person, and your Royal Posterity on the British Throne for ever.

Stockholm, Aug. 12. The King and Queen will return hitherto towards the End of this Month: In the mean time several General Officers and others have Leave given them to make a Tour into Germany, and other Places, on their private Occasions. By a Computation made of the Charge of repairing the Mines ruined by the Muscovites the last War, it amounts to 300,000 Crowns; but they are at present in as good a Condition as ever: His Majesty and the Senators has contributed the most towards their Reparation. It is the general Opinion that an Alliance is concerting between the King of Denmark and our Court, having for its principal Object the restoring the Baltick Commerce to the same flourishing Condition it was ever at in any time past. M. Bestuchef, the Russian Minister, still insists that the Czar's Subjects be allowed equal Privilege in shipping of Iron, Copper, and other Merchandize of this Country, with the Subjects of Great Britain and Holland; and 'tis said, he has signified to Count Horn, that not finding he was likely to succeed in his Demands he believed he should shortly be recalled.

Dantzick, Aug. 4. Letters from Warsaw say, that the Bishop of Ermland is named to succeed to the Primacy of Poland, but is not to be confirmed in that Dignity till the Grand Diet is assembled. Advices from Muscovy give an Account, that it grows daily more and more probable that the young Czarowitz will be declared Successour to the Russian Throne. The Duke of Mecklenberg is yet in this City, but seldom stirs out of his House, and by what can be judged of his Intentions, he seems rather disposed to let all his Revenues be consumed by the Troops of Execution, than accommodate with his Nobility. M. Vincent, Captain of a Russian Ship of 30 Guns which came hither lately from Venice, is yet in this Port. This Ship in her Passage hither met and engaged an Algerine Corsair. The Captain is unloading here, by the Czar's Orders, several fine Statues he has brought from Italy.

Hambourg, Aug. 21. The Burghers of this City were again assembled Yesterday, concerning the Affair of the Imperial Minister's House, but their Number not being compleat, they separated without coming to any Conclusion. The late Report of Count Rantzau's Death proves false; the Proceedings against him are carried on very diligently, and 'tis not doubted but the Matter will be peremptorily decided by the Court of Justice established by the King of Denmark. Two other eminent Lawyers are gone from Gluckstadt to Rendsbourg, to see if the accused will consult and retain them to plead in his Defence. All Persons that visit him are first searched and examined, and not long ago his Steward and another of his Domesticks who came to see him, were taken into Custody. At present none speaks in Behalf of the Count, since the King of Denmark has caused it to be represented, that besides, that he, in Quality of Privy Councillour, Chamberlain, and Knight of the Order of the Elephant, is attached to his Danish Majesty by Homage and Oath, and is moreover his Vassal, by the greatest Part of his Territories which he holds in the Danish Dominions, he is yet the more guilty of High Treason, in having caused it to be suggested among the Accomplices and Assassins of his Brother, that this Murder was committed by a private Order of the Danish Court; and to confirm them the better in this wicked Sentiment, has shew'd to them the King's Rescript that was sent to the Count, in Answer to his Notification of his elder Brother's Fate, and before the present Count was suspected of being concerned in it; in which Rescript, his Danish Majesty exhorts the Count to leave no Stone unturn'd in order to discover the Criminals, and bring them to condign Punishment; there being also at the Bottom of this Rescript the usual set Form of Conclusion, viz. "That his Majesty would always continue him in his Royal Favour &c." From thence the Count's Accomplices have drawn a Consequence, as if their being suborned and employed by the Count, were tolerated with his Danish Majesty's Connivance. The King of Denmark has also caused it to be signified to the Imperial Minister, that if the Court of Vienna will insist upon protecting the said Count, his Danish Majesty cannot henceforwards employ any Count of the Empire in his Service, nor likewise permit any of his Subjects to be raised to Dignities by the Emperour. An Account from Moscow is handed about here, setting forth, that the Regency there has received Orders from the Czar at Astracan, to send an Express immediately to Petersbourg, to hire at Dantzick and elsewhere a good Number of Masons, Carpenters, and other Handicrafts men, to give them good Earnest, and to have them sent by Moscow to Astracan, to be employed with others already working about the Port and new City which the Czar has caused to be begun upon the River Daria, that it may quickly be in a Condition to serve not only for a Place of Retreat, but also to be a good Frontièr of Defence against the Insults and Inroads either of the Rebels, or other Persians. But it being difficult to get Materials, especially Wood, proper for building, when it is fetched a great Way off, and out of the Enemy's Country, the Czar has therefore caused flat-bottomed Vessels to take in such kind of Lading at Astracan, and convey it to the Frontiers of Georgia, of which he hopes to have, in a little Time, at least, the Protection, and perhaps the Sovereignty. In the mean time, his Czarish Majesty sails in the River Daria from Place to Place, to encourage the Workmen; by which Means, the Russians flatter themselves, that in a few Month's Time their new City will be built and fortified; and 'tis reported, that the Czar, to perpetuate his Memory in those Parts, will have it called Peter's-Haven.

Hague, Aug. 28. M. Hop, the States Ambassador at Paris, has acquainted their High Mightinesses by this Post of the Cardinal du Bois being declared Prime Minister. The Baron de Hattorf is arrived at Rotterdam, and designs to embark in a few Days for Great Britain. The States of Holland break up To-morrow. The Admiralties are attending here, and 'tis expected that before the States break up they will come to some Resolution upon the Points they have had this long time under Deliberation.
